

Prepare for beach reading season

Many consider Memorial Day weekend the official start to beach reading season. Here are some suggestions to take with you for those long, languid days in the sun. Fiction Addiction will be hosting these authors for events at the store as well, so stop by and say hello on your way to the shore.

"A LOWCOUNTRY WEDDING"

by Mary Alice Monroe
(paperback, $16)

The fourth book in Monroe's Lowcountry series spends more time with Delphine – the dolphin, Mamaw and her three summer girls – two of whom are having Charleston weddings. Fiction Addiction just hosted Monroe for an event, so we have signed copies available.

"THE CANTALOUPE THIEF"

by local author Deb Richardson-Moore
(paperback, $14.99)

The first in a mystery series featuring reporter Branigan Powers who must convince the community's homeless population to help her solve a murder.

Event: Tuesday, May 31, 5:30 p.m. • Café and Then Some, 101 College St., Greenville Free

"BEACH TOWN"

(paperback, $15.99) or

"THE WEEKENDERS"

(hardcover, $27.99)

by Mary Kay Andrews

"Beach Town" is set in Florida and "The Weekenders" on a North Carolina barrier island. Both contain Andrews' trademark humor and quirky family drama.

Event: Friday, June 3, 2 p.m. Fiction Addiction, 1175 Woods Crossing Road, Greenville Tickets: $30, price includes a copy of "The Weekenders"

"A FINE IMITATION"

by Furman graduate Amber Brock (hardcover, $26)

Sweep yourself away to Manhattan in the 1920s and peek into the world of restless but beautiful Manhattan socialites.

Event: Saturday, June 4, 2 p.m. Fiction Addiction; Free

"ECHOES OF MERCY"

by North Carolina author Kim Boykin
(paperback, $17)

A Lowcountry tale of murder, regret and redemption.

Event: Saturday, June 18, 2 p.m. Fiction Addiction; Free

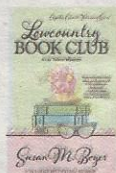

"SUNSHINE BEACH"

by Wendy Wax (paperback, $16)

A continuation of Wax's tale of three women who lost their life savings in a Ponzi scheme and then have banded together to reinvent themselves and the houses they restore.

Event: Saturday, June 25, 2 p.m. Fiction Addiction Tickets: $17; price includes a copy of "Sunshine Beach."

"LOWCOUNTRY BOOK CLUB"

by Susan Boyer (paperback, $15.95, to be released July 5)

The fifth book in Boyer's Agatha Award-winning cozy mystery series featuring private detective Liz Talbot, who must infiltrate high society to discover who would murder one of the members of Charleston's oldest book clubs.

Event: Launch party Tuesday, July 5, 5 p.m. Fiction Addiction; Free

"JANE TWO"

by actor/director Sean Patrick Flanery
(hardcover, $26)

A tender coming-of-age story and tale of first love set in Houston in the 1970s.

Event: Saturday, July 16, 4 p.m. Fiction Addiction; Free

Reviewed by Jill Hendrix, owner of Fiction Addiction (fiction-addiction.com) and treasurer of the SC Academy of Authors.

ense
of novel

liberties with it.
s film comes in the
rity of the movie
t without any cuts,
t time. At that ctually shoot a ecause the film in
about every nine
e crew would move
n the scene, such
ey would then stop
hen start the next
ck to make the edit
as an unbroken shot.
MacGuffin" to refer
ates conflict for
e map or a valuable film is a rope. In udgeoned their cock decided to
apon since it made
e that contained one

been ng at
Arts
994.

, spy or esting &
o included!

